Family Re-Union Ends In 7 Deaths

QUESNEL, B.C. (CP)—Two children are fighting for their lives here today with injuries suffered in a car crash which killed seven persons, including their father, mother, brother and three sisters.

They were returning from a family reunion.

Another man is on the critical list as a result of the high speed collision Saturday night on a twisting stretch of the Cariboo Highway, nine miles south of here.

A mother and her two sons were also injured in the mishap which RCMP said was the worst on record in the British Columbia interior.

The victims are James Paxton, 29, his wife Eleanor, 25, their children Judy, 7, Joseph, 5, Linda, 4, and Wendy, five months, and Alfred Joseph Carriere, about 30, of Alexandria, 25 miles south of here.

In critical condition are Patsy Paxton, 8, and her sister Cindy Lou, 2.

Otto Thompson of Alexandria suffered severe brain injuries 40 minutes after the crash when he was run down by a car while directing traffic with a flashlight at the scene of the wreck. All the injured were taken to Quesnel Hospital.

RETURNING HOME

Police said the Paxtons were returning to their home at Williams Lake, 65 miles south of here, when their car was in collision with Carriere's car.

Injured in the second car were Mrs. Myrtle Helbert of Alexandria and her sons Keith, 8, and Darryl, 5.

Wreckage and bodies were strewn along the highway. The car which struck Thompson knocked a parked vehicle into the ditch, setting it on fire.

The Paxtons had been visiting Mrs. Paxton's mother near Quesnel where Mrs. Paxton was reunited with her sister, Mrs. Patricia Stanley, of Cloverdale, B.C.

"We had a wonderful time . . . talking over old times and just generally chatting," said Mrs. Stanley.

Canada Toll Reaches 70

The weekend accidental death toll across Canada totalled at least 70.

There were 46 traffic fatalities. A Canadian Press survey from 6 p.m. Friday to midnight Sunday showed Quebec with a high of 34 dead, including 18 in traffic.

Alberta had 10 traffic deaths and British Columbia nine, while Ontario had an unusually low figure of three. Nova Scotia recorded two traffic deaths. Manitoba, Saskatchewan, New Brunswick and Newfoundland recorded one each.

Bloodless Coup Results In Seizure Of Algiers

ALGIERS (AP) — Algerian guerrilla troops held Algiers today after a bloodless coup believed to favor the quest for power of dissident Vice-Premier Ahmed Ben Bella.

Several opponents of Ben Bella were arrested. Among them was Amar Oussedik, political commissar of the Algiers Autonomous Zone, which the guerrilla leaders said was dissolved.

Premier Ben Youssef Ben Khedda and officials of his government were not molested.

Two thousand guerrillas of the Willaya (zone) IV surrounding Algiers occupied the city at dawn Sunday. Their commander Col. Si Hassan, 27, said he hopes to form a junta of willaya commanders to head the government until elections are held in the newly independent state. Elections for a constituent assembly are scheduled Aug. 12.

The guerrilla command announced it took control to reestablish national unity. It pledged to "open the gates" of the capital to all factions seeking a solution to the political problems. The announcement was considered a prelude to the installation in Algiers of the seven-man political bureau that Ben Bella is sponsoring.

Dief May Get Invitation To ECM Talks In London

AUCKLAND, N.Z. (CP) — Prime Minister Diogenes of the Commonwealth of New Zealand may be invited to join the prime ministers of Australia and New Zealand in early-September talks in London concerning loss of markets which might result from Britain's proposed entry into the European Common Market.

New Zealand's Prime Minister Holyoake said today he has arranged to discuss with Australia's Prime Minister Menzies the trade implications of the Commonwealth market negotiations, and is considering asking Diogenes to join in. The talks would precede the Commonwealth prime ministers conference due to begin Sept. 10.

Menzies Rejects ECM Deadlock Idea

PERTH, Australia (Reuters) — Prime Minister Robert Menzies said today he refuses to accept that Britain's negotiations to enter the European Common Market have reached a deadlock.

Seven Scouts Lost On Lake

CANOE LAKE, Ont. (CP) — An air and land search for seven boy scouts from Buffalo, N.Y., overdue two days on a canoe trip, is under way in Algonquin Park, about 200 miles northwest of Toronto.

The boys, all teenagers, were identified today as: Barry Selgar, Bruce Small, James Hilt, Howard Goldstein, Sheldon Mocks, David Amet and John Heuston.

They are members of Troop 120, Beth Zion synagogue. U. W. (York) Fiskar, park superintendent, said he is "not too concerned" about the boys because they could have decided to wait at a campsite for a break in the fog which has prevailed in the area for several days.

RCMP TRACK DOWN CLUES IN HOTEL BLAST

POLICE PROBE BLAST (INSET, SHATTERED CEILING)

Bomb Was Similar Type To Those Used By 'Sons'

RCMP are tracking down numerous leads in connection with the early Sunday explosion which rocked a Kelowna hotel.

Damage to the Willow Inn Hotel's bus depot and coffee shop from a home-made bomb, believed to be the same type used by the radical Sons of Freedom, was estimated at $20,000.

Police said today fragments found at the scene of the explosion indicate the bomb was made of the same mechanism uncovered at other British Columbia blasts involving the sect.

A large wall clock in the bus depot had stopped at 3:01 a.m. said police who rushed to the hotel along with Kelowna Volunteer Fire Brigade.

There were no injuries although both hotel clerk Roger Bird and janitor Roy Beller were within a few feet of the blast which ripped apart two downstairs washrooms, the depot, waiting room, office, part of the hotel's coffee shop and kitchen.

FRAGMENTS FLY

Fragments of the dynamite-type bomb, believed to have been placed in a steel luggage locker, forced their way through two floors and one large chunk imbedded itself in the back door of Okanagan Investments Ltd., 120 feet across the alleyway.

The blast sent large plate glass windows, both in front and at the rear of the hotel, crashing to the ground. Millions of glass shivers littered a huge area in the rear bus parking lot and driveway. Cement blocks forming the depot walls were torn out and the concussion sent large cracks up adjacent walls.

RCMP said bits of a dry cell battery and a cheap pocket watch found in the debris indicate the explosion was the work of the Freedomites, who've terrorized the Kootenays with bombings and arson for years.

Syrian-Egypt Feud Worsens

DAMASCUS (Reuters)—Youssef Mzameh, a former United Arab Republic cabinet minister, was arrested here Sunday night on charges of sabotage, reliable sources said today.

His arrest was believed linked with the recent sharp deterioration in relations between Syria and Egypt, which until 10 months ago were joined in the United Arab Republic.

The feud worsened Sunday with Syrian claims that security forces had felled a pro-Egyptian plot to overthrow the Syrian government.

US Timber Curb 'Unlikely'

OTTAWA (CP) — It will be most surprising if President Kennedy seeks import restrictions on Canadian lumber after strongly advocating freer trade, General Manager G. E. Bell of the Canadian Lumbermen's Association said today.

Tractor Crushes Driver To Death

KEREMEOS (CP) — Stanley Gordon Miles, 39, of North Vancouver, was crushed to death when his tractor rolled down an embankment Sunday.

In a miracle operation, two Calgary surgeons restored the arm. They believe she will gain complete use of the limb as the result of the rare operation.

US Marines Pull Out Of Thailand

BANGKOK (Reuters)—United States marines today were winding up their withdrawal from Thailand despite Thai reservations over their departure. Gen. Prapart Charuathien, Thai interior minister, said he believes the withdrawal was being carried out at an "inappropriate time."

But he added that with modern communications and transport the marines could return to Thailand from their base at Okinawa in a matter of hours. The last contingent of marine combat troops left by air for Okinawa Sunday night leaving behind only support elements such as hospital teams and mechanics.

IT WAS A LOT OF STOMACH ACHE

NORTH HOLLYWOOD, Calif. (AP)—Himba, a water sking elephant, has a stomach ache. She slipped away from her stall Saturday night at the Kay Brothers circus here and devoured 100 pounds of cotton candy.

It gave her a tummy ache—but handlers say it won't hurt her seriously.

OTTAWA (CP) — A 5½-hour military air exercise, during which all civilian flying will be restricted in the United States and Canada, will be held Sept. 2, the North American Air Defence Command announced today.

$127m Uranium Contract Signed By UK, Canada

OTTAWA (CP) — The United Kingdom will buy 24,000,000 pounds of Canadian uranium at a price of $127,000,000 under terms of a contract signed here today after protracted negotiations between the two governments.

The contract was signed following renegotiation of 1957 letters of intent in which Britain signified that it was prepared to buy this amount of uranium at a price of some $192,000,000. That meant a price of $8 a ton but the price disclosed today is $5.33 a ton.

Deliveries under the contract, signed by Trade Minister Hoos for Crown-owned Eldorado Mining and Refining Limited of Canada and by Sir Roger Makins, chairman of the United Kingdom Atomic Energy Authority, will take place over a period extending into the early 1970s.

Soviet Arms Proposals Seen As 'Impracticable'

GENEVA (AP)—Lt.-Gen. E. L. M. Burns, Canada's chief delegate at the 17-nation disarmament talks, told the conference today that Soviet proposals for ending the arms race were "unrealistic and impracticable."

Speaking on behalf of the Western powers, Burns told the conference's third plenary session that if Russian disarmament plans were carried out, the strategic position of the NATO alliance would be considerably weakened.

Burns' speech was described by Western diplomatic sources as the West's answer to a speech Soviet delegate Valerian Zorin made last Friday. Zorin told the conference that if Russian disarmament plan-calling for the simultaneous destruction of foreign military bases and delivery vehicles for nuclear weapons—were carried out, it would be impossible for any nation to launch a surprise attack.

Burns said Zorin's proposals would leave Western Europe at the mercy of superior East-bloc forces by requiring all troops to be withdrawn within their own national boundaries.

This means Russian troops would only be within about 400 miles striking distance from Western Europe, whereas the United States would have to transport arms and men across the Atlantic in any operation to aid Western Europe against a surprise attack.

Burns said Soviet refusal to permit disarmament verification "is another reason why the West fears the possibility of a powerful land offensive by Soviet forces."

Deal Criticized By Mining Men

TORONTO (CP)—Mining officials were critical today about an Ottawa announcement that Britain has signed a contract to purchase $127,000,000 in Canadian uranium.

Steve Roman, president of Denison Mines Limited, which operates at Elliot Lake, Ont., described the contract as a "perpetuation of the tactical blunders of the previous administration."

He said "the immature and irrational concessions by the Canadian government constitute a sell-out of Canada's uranium industry to the tune of $70,000,000."

'Time-For-Tea' Resort Raided — Beer Seized

NORTH VANCOUVER (CP)—Police seized 300 cases of beer, dice and playing cards Sunday in a raid on a remote resort popular with tourists for its afternoon teas.

They also arrested 15 men and two women and charged them with offences ranging from conspiracy to bribe an RCMP corporal and to gambling.

Two boatloads of RCMP took part in the raid shortly after midnight in Wigwam Inn, a picturesque hotel on a scenic inlet 20 miles northeast of here.

"This was the commencement of what was intended to be a very large operation and it was snipped in the bud in the early stages," Crown prosecutor George Murray told a special police court session where bail was set for the accused Sunday.

Three were charged with trying to bribe Cpl. Jack McDonald. They are lawyer Rockwell Myers, William Foulter Robertson and Jack McGrath, all of Vancouver.

They are charged with giving the corporal $1,000 in cash and several paintings and antiques to facilitate the committing of an offence and with interfering with the administration of justice.

Bail for Myers was set at $10,000 and at $25,000 each for Robertson and McGrath.

Bail of $5,000 each was set for Banta Singh, Keith Ander-

Fascist Boss Beaten Up In UK

MANCHESTER, England (AP)—A prosecutor told a court today that 250 policemen prevented a full-scale riot Sunday when crowds clashed with members of Sir Oswald Mosley's right-wing British Union Movement.

The judge fined 50 persons a total of £75 and continued the cases of nine others who pleaded innocent. Some of the defendants were accused of obstructing the police. Fines were £2 to £5.

Mosley, 65-year-old pro-war Fascist leader, was battered to the ground during the disorders that occurred while he and about 40 of his supporters marched through Manchester streets to a meeting place.

East Berlin firemen have tank obstacles behind the second border wall at the Wilhelmstrasse crossing. The Communists also brought up additional concrete blocks to the crossing, with apparent intention of adding to the barricades in the area.

Midsummer Lull Shaken On Canadian Exchanges

The usual mid-summer lull on Canadian stock markets was abruptly cut short last week as takeover bids, formal and rumored, brought on a burst of activity unseen in recent sessions.

An offer by Shell Oil Company of Canada for Canadian Oil Companies Ltd., the last Canadian-owned wellhead-to-consumer oil company, for $114,000,000 hit the markets Monday morning.

On Tuesday, British-American Oil offered to purchase Superior Propane Ltd. at $18 a share or about $8,000,000. Superior markets propane gas in Quebec and Ontario.

The following day the British Petroleum controlled Triad Oil Company announced it had offered to purchase the assets of Devon-Palmer Oils Ltd., which has interests in Alberta and Saskatchewan, for about $7,991,000.

FORM HELIUM COMPANY
Another piece of news adding activity to oil markets was an announcement of the formation of Canadian Helium Ltd. to extract helium from British-American's holdings in Saskatchewan. The company is owned equally by British-American, British Oxygen Company of London and Air Liquide of Paris.

Central Del Rio Oils Ltd., producer in Saskatchewan, Alberta and North Dakota, was the subject of rumors all week that an offer for it will be made by a large foreign company.

Rumors that an offer to purchase Atlas Steel would be made were borne out after the market close Friday when Rio Algom announced it expects to make a bid for approximately $45,000,000. A statement from Atlas said discussions between the two companies were continuing.

Among motor issues, Ford of Canada registered a $16 gain on news of a record in its six months earnings figures. These were up to a new high of $12.15 a share against $4.95 in the same period last year.

Distillers-Seagrams was active Friday after an announcement that the company had purchased a minority interest in a United Kingdom wine firm, J. R. Phillips and Company.

INCO GAINS
International Nickel was the favorite on the base metals market, gaining about $6 to the accompaniment of rumors of a gold find on one of the company's many properties.

Golds suffered a setback and many issues lost $1 or more following President Kennedy's statement earlier in the week that the U.S. does not contemplate devaluation of its dollar.

The speculative market, in comparison with the last two weeks, was quiet.

Volume this week at Toronto was 11,256,000 shares compared with 11,579,000 last week. Dollar value was $28,297,133 compared with $31,944,919.

On index at Toronto, industrials gained 7.58 to 531.58, base metals 1.31 to 182.94 and western oils 6.03 to 100.58. Golds dropped 6.47 to 103.50.

A total of 742,887 industrial shares and 2,162,552 mining shares were traded at Montreal this week compared with 575,446 and 1,233,224 last week.

On index at Montreal banks gained 1.21 to 56.86, utilities 0.99 to 130.9, industrials 2.9 to 236.5, and combined 2.3 to 241.3. Papers were down 2.6 to 469.9.

Red Envoys Silent On Blast In UK

LONDON (AP) — Communist diplomats have demanded the body of a Romanian woman who died in a hospital during the weekend after an explosion at the home of the Romanian minister in London.

Two other women and a man, all Romanians, were injured by the blast.

Embassy officials said the body of the woman, who was in her 20s, will be flown back to Romania. They indicated they would object to any request for an inquest.

Romanian diplomats would not discuss the explosion Saturday which shattered a ground-floor reception room at the Belgrave Square residence of Minister Alexandru Lazareanu.

"We hope some explanation will be volunteered," said a foreign office spokesman. "It is obvious we must seek the facts if they are not given to us."

Detectives who investigated were told a tin of cleaning fluid exploded as the staff cleaned a floor.

Witnesses said there was a blast "like a thundering." Then two women and a man ran screaming into the street, their clothes ablaze. A third woman jumped from a window and crashed 15 feet through a glass canopy into a basement area.

Twelve hours later one of the women died in hospital.

Asylum Offer For Soblen

LONDON (AP) — Dr. Robert A. Soblen has been offered asylum in an unnamed European country, friends said today.

The man under life sentence in the United States as a Soviet spy cannot take advantage of the offer without the approval of Home Secretary Henry Brooke, Soblen now is in a London prison awaiting last-ditch legal moves to prevent his return to the U.S.

Soblen's friends declined to say whether the country which has offered him asylum is in Western Europe or the Communist bloc.

COMMUNIST INFILTRATION

Undercover Man's Story Raises Protest Storm

OTTAWA (CP) — Angry denials have followed statements by Calvin M. MacDonald, self-styled undercover RCMP agent, that Communists have infiltrated various organizations including the Voice of Women and the Canadian Campaign for Nuclear Disarmament.

Mrs. Helen Tucker, president of the Voice of Women, said in Toronto that the statement by the 39-year-old Ottawa man was a lie.

"Irresponsible and insupportable," was the comment of Toronto Rabi Abraham Feinberg, a leader of the Canadian Campaign for Nuclear Disarmament.

The VoW and CCND were among organizations named here Saturday by Mr. MacDonald in his second press conference in two days held to describe what he said was his double role as an Ottawa organizer for the Communist party and secret agent for the RCMP.

RCMP Commissioner C. W. Harvison has declined to comment on his statements.

Mr. MacDonald, expelled Friday by the Communist party's Ontario leadership, told reporters Saturday that Communist sleeper-secret agents — have joined the Voice of Women by the score and have used the VoW and CCND to spread the Communist party's ideas.

On Friday, he said that the Unitarian Church in Ottawa had long been available for the holding of Communist-inspired meetings.

This was denied by Norman Dowd, minister emeritus of the church and now an official of the Canadian Labor Congress.

"There is no justification for that statement," Mr. Dowd said. "There have never been any such meetings to my knowledge, and I think I should know."

Mrs. Tucker said the Voice of Women has been congratulated for its work by External Affairs Minister Green. Referring to the VoW executive, she said: "I know them right down to the last one and every one is highly respected."

Prisoner Of War Drama Retold After 18 Years

NEW YORK (CP) — Eighteen years ago, an RCAF warrant officer and an American soldier swapped identities in a Nazi prisoner-of-war camp in a plot to help the Canadian escape.

The Canadian, assuming the identity of the American, shipped out with a group of U.S. prisoners ordered transferred to another prison camp. He hoped to escape en route. The American remained behind, replying for the Canadian at the daily camp roll calls and risking death by a firing squad if caught.

That was the last the two men heard of one another.

A week ago, the American, Hugo (Del) DelPrete of nearby New Milford, N.J., asked the New York bureau of The Canadian Press to help him locate former WO. Beverly Wayne Scharf, the Canadian who had traded identities with him. He often wondered, he said, whether Scharf had "made it" to freedom.

HAD ADDRESS
His only clue was a Sarnia, Ont., address scribbled by Scharf in the American's tattered pocket notebook the night before he shipped out of the German camp, Stalag VI, as DelPrete.

A letter was sent to the Sarnia Observer asking their help.

Friday, DelPrete received from Scharf, now living in Orange, Calif., a letter expressing his delight at receiving a long-distance call from the Sarnia newspaper, which had located him through relatives. He, too, often had wondered whether DelPrete had survived in the camp.

No, Scharf wrote, he had not "made it." He went into the new camp with the U.S. group and was liberated by the Russians Jan. 31, 1945. He then fled a Russian compound and made it to the American lines.

His greatest difficulty there, he said, was "to persuade the Americans that I was a Canadian." In swapping identities, he the founder of the Canadian Peace Research Institute, said she knows of no communist infiltration in VoW.

"But I imagine some Communist sympathizers want peace just as we do, so it's possible some have become members of peace groups."

The Voice of Women, formed two years ago and claiming 7,000 members, opposes nuclear testing and armaments and racial discrimination.

Dr. Feinberg, rabbi emeritus of Holy Blossom Temple in Toronto, said Mr. MacDonald's charges were "another lurid and shopworn chapter in the smear campaign being conducted against the Canadian peace movement, usually by men who have nothing to lose but their obscurity."

He said the Canadian Campaign for Nuclear Disarmament "has nothing to hide and I believe the RCMP knows it."

Missing Climbers Return

KLEINE SCHEIDEGG, Switzerland (Reuters) — Four Swiss mountaineers — including two women — returned here safely today after giving up an attempt to conquer the 13,026-foot Eiger peak.

Fears for their safety had mounted after the four were hidden by mist on the dangerous north face of the mountain for 36 hours.

The four gave up their attempt on the north wall Sunday morning and bivouacked Sunday night on their way down.

Early this morning they arrived at a tunnel opening for a railroad line connecting the town of Lauterbrunnen with the summit of the Jungfrau, the Eiger's sister peak.

At about the same time a lone Alpinist started up the west face of the Eiger on a reconnaissance for the four climbers.

The four were last seen Saturday night bivouacked in "the ramp," a steep, icy rock slope at about 10,200 feet. They had been forced to stay put for several hours by heavy rain.

TODAY'S STOCK QUOTATIONS

TORONTO (CP) — The stock market slipped modestly today during lacklustre morning trading today.

All index sections except golds showed fractional declines and even the advance scored by golds was unimpressive.

In the main list, Atlas Steel climbed to a 1962 high of 35 1/4 but dropped back to 34 1/4 for a loss of 1/4.

On the exchange index, industrials dipped 39 to 531.19, base metals 55 to 182.39 and western oils .08 to 100.50. Golds rose .09 to 97.22. The 11 a.m. volume was 602,000 shares compared with 741,000 at the same time Friday.

Among base metals Hudson Bay Mining dropped a point and Noranda 1/4.

In the speculative market, Volamac dropped 20 cents to $1.76 and Norbridge 11 cents to $6.35.

Western oils were extremely quiet.

WILLOW INN EXPLOSION

Hotel Clerk, Janitor Have A Close Call

It was a close call for night desk clerk Roger Bird and hotel janitor Roy Beller at Sunday's Willow Inn explosion.

The two men, one of which had just come out of the washroom were sitting in the coffee shop booth nearest the desk when the explosion pounded out a glass wall, burst water and gas pipes, blasted down partitions and a wall and opened huge cracks in the outside masonry.

In room 223, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Bailey of Burnaby and their four young children were sleeping in two large double beds, their room two full floors above the steel locker where the bomb was planted.

AWAKENED

Awakened by the frightful blast, to their horror the Baileys saw a fragment of the locker push up through a jagged hole in the floor a scant three feet from their children's bed.

The Baileys left the hotel immediately. A short while later, an RCMP constable said, the family was checked on the highway and Mr. Bailey was reported to have said:

"I expected to get an early start but not this early!"

Two of the Kelowna detachment, who normally stop at the hotel coffee shop for an early morning break inexplicably decided to have their coffee at an adjacent restaurant. They "usually park their car in the bus parking lot."

As they walked in the front door of Sing's restaurant, they heard the blast. Every available man on the force was called out immediately to the scene.

NO PANIC

There was little panic among the 50 overnight and weekend guests and the handful of permanent residents. Those who weren't awakened by the appalling suddenness of the blast were routed from their bed by police. They fled down from their rooms into the lobby and out onto Queensway Avenue. There was no fire.

The blast was heard throughout the area. One woman who said she lived three miles away reported hearing it.

Hotel janitor Mr. Beller told reporters "Someone above was watching over me. If I'd been cleaning the washroom as I usually do, I guess I'd have been blown to glory."

There was a heavy acrid pall of smelly smoke hanging over corridors and in the lobby.

Small knots of people who materialized out of nowhere hung around the scene behind a roped-off cordon to watch RCMP sift through the blast area.

Upstairs, in addition to the damage to the two bedrooms directly above the blast, there were numerous long cracks in the corridor walls. Furniture in both rooms was knocked about and radiators ripped off the wall.

Downstairs ceiling tiles littered the floor or dangled precariously. A twisted tankard and smashed porcelain toilet fixtures were evidence of the powerful destruction of the blast.

It was a rude jolt for hotel co-owners Bud Mooney, Rex MacKenzie, Gene Poirier and Stan Craik.

Mr. Mooney called by one of the other men said, "I thought he was kidding me but it was no joke." All four were on the scene within minutes of the blast.

A Daily Courier reporter who lives at the hotel and who had just returned from a late swim said the explosion sounded like a huge glass mirror that had been dropped from a couple of hundred feet. She reported there was little confusion among guests who apparently weren't aware of the seriousness of the blast until they saw the damage.

On Sunday, RCMP were still on the spot. Debris after being examined with a fine tooth comb, was cleaned up and some order out of the chaos had been restored. The hotel owners said they didn't know when they would re-open the coffee shop for business.

The bus depot was operating yesterday to accommodate the numerous Kelowna visitors here over the weekend. Greyhound buses pulled into the front of the hotel and those waiting transportation used restroom facilities on the first floor.

It is believed the hotel was insured against such bomb damage.

NINE BANDS

Doug Johnson, in charge of bands for this year's Regatta, told the committee Thursday the Kelowna City Band is the only brass band so far certain to appear this year. Nine bands, mostly drum, bugle and pipe, are already finalized however, to provide musical entertainment. The Kamloops band who are popular for both musicianship and their clowning antics, will be invited for special performances, arrangements for which will be made within the next few days.

NO PICTURE

The camera? Oh, yes... Unfortunately neither Johnny or Lena, his wife, gave it a thought until Ogopogo was too far away for a picture!

Taking off for a day's fishing Friday, Johnny and Lena and Frankie headed their boat across the lake from Westbank, and, until Ogopogo was too far away for a picture!

Those are exactly the conditions under which Mr. and Mrs. Johnny Schneider, of Westbank, were changed from cynical scoffers to staunch believers in the existence of Okanagan Lake's monster, Ogopogo, or to give it the Indian name, "Nal-taka."

The third occupant of the boat was Frank Schneider, and being but eight years old, Frankie is neither a cynic or a skeptic. Instead, he stated flatly in a tone that brooked no contradiction, "Yep, I saw it!"

CALM WATERS CHURNED

In the act of debarking in fact Johnny already was on land, his attention was on land, a great churning of the water, disturbing the dead-calm lake some 100 yards out.

REGATTA WORKER

The Regatta Committee has a large responsibility in preparing the water spectacle of 1962. Kay Wignall is on the executive of this committee. She is also on the social committee and is kept hopping to tend to her many duties. A hard worker and busy woman is Kay Wignall.

T. C. Pumphrey Dies At 58

A visitor to Ellison died shortly after arrival on Friday, July 27.

Trevor Charles Pumphrey suffered a heart attack at approximately 6:30 Friday evening. He was 58.

Mr. Pumphrey had left his home in Kamloops that afternoon and had travelled down to Ellison to visit both his wife's family and his own.

The heat and travel proved too much for him. He suffered an attack and died suddenly shortly after arrival.

Mr. Pumphrey had been a CNR engineer for about 25 years. He was born in Kent, England, but had come across the sea as a child and made his home with his wife in Kamloops for past years.

Remains are being forwarded to Kamloops for services and interment.

He is survived by his wife, Elizabeth; two daughters, Mrs. Katherine Wallenski and Mrs. Shirley Churchill, both in Kamloops; two brothers, including Earl, of Rutland; and four sisters, one of whom is Mrs. Doris Soon, of Salmon Arm. Clarke and Bennett have been entrusted with the arrangements.

My 12-year-old daughter coming home rather frightened from a stroll along the beach, with a story of a "log" that simply rolled into a calm lake and took off. Of another "log" and its inexplicable disappearance.

Of a "wave" on an otherwise smooth surface heading straight for Gellatly Point, suddenly altering its course and striking off at a right angle toward the east side of the lake.

Promptly starting up his boat, a resident chased this phenomenon toward the east side where the "wave" submerged, to reappear about half a mile south.

Courier Weekly Rate Increased

In these days of rising prices, a price which remains the same over a period of four years is a rather rare thing. Yet it has been four years since there has been any change in the home delivered weekly rate of the Daily Courier. Since February, 1958, the home delivered price has been 30 cents per week. However, now, commencing Monday, July 30, the home delivered price in the City of Kelowna will be 35 cents.

It is with reluctance that we make even this small change, but we are forced to do so by sheer economic necessity. Newspaper production costs are high and growing higher. Newsprint alone is a very large item and this newspaper, unfortunately, has one of the highest production costs of any daily in Canada. Even our new rate will not cover the cost of the paper and ink in the paper the subscriber receives.

The change being made in our Kelowna rate is modest indeed. The Courier remains one of the few papers in Canada that have a weekly home delivery rate as low as 35 cents.

The new rate structure will mean additional revenue for your carrier boy, as he will participate in the additional five cents per week.

There will be no change in the single copy price of seven cents.

The Daily Courier remains the biggest value you can find for less than six cents a day! It brings you world and local news right to your door before any other paper, and it gives you a complete coverage every day of the news as it happens, not 12 hours later. Nowhere else can you find such good value for your small change.

We regret the necessity of increasing our Kelowna home delivery rate, but it was unavoidable.

BERNARD COLLISION

No one was injured in an early Sunday morning mishap which involved a car driven by M. E. Gale, Lake Ave. and one driven by Victor Kowalchuk, R.R. 5, Kelowna. The Gale car, police said, had stopped at Bernard and Ethel St. to let out passengers. Estimated damage to the second car was $350. Charges are being contemplated.

Stories of Ogopogo abound in histories of the Okanagan, which also tells us that "Naltaka" was firmly believed in by Indians long before the white man came to the Okanagan. That they "avoided going near a certain place on Okanagan Lake. An evil spirit stayed in this water," they said. Whenever they spoke of this dread creature, it was in hushed tones, for did it not require sacrifices to appease its wrath?

FISH DISAPPEARED

Johnny and Lena finally got back to the business of fishing, but had to go elsewhere for their catch that day. The fish had simply disappeared from that particular spot.

They vow they'll always have their camera with them after this, and what's more, remember it, while wondering if last Friday's experience was a "once in a lifetime" chance.

SUFFERS CONCUSSION

Police Track Man Following Accident

A police dog early Sunday, wandered away from hospital morning helped locate a driver, while he was being treated. Injured in a mishap earlier who In Kelowna police court today, it was learned that John Norman Greenwich, formerly of Toronto and now living in Winfield, had suffered a mild concussion and left his hospital treatment bed at Kelowna General Hospital undetected.

The man had been involved in a car accident on Highway 97 near a Winfield fruit stand.

The dog tracked Greenwich to Kelowna City Park where he was found asleep.

In court today, he was fined $50 and costs for making an illegal left turn across a double line.

In the accident which RCMP said occurred about 4:30 p.m. Saturday, the Greenwich vehicle was in collision with a car driven by Larry Beckholt of Armstrong, which was approaching from the opposite direction.

A female passenger in the Beckholt car, who wasn't identified, was treated for a fractured jaw.

The accused man went to hospital with undetermined injuries. Police said he was apparently shaken up in the accident.

There was an estimated $1,000 damage to both cars.

Greenwich, who had both an Ontario drivers licence and plates on his car told Magistrate D. M. White today, "I felt I had ample time to make the turn. The other car was at least 600-700 feet away. Before I knew it, he was on top of me."

He said the collision occurred about 20 feet off the travelled part of the road as the Beckholt car attempted to swing in.

He said he left his hospital bed because it was so hot. "I wanted to get out and get some fresh air."

Magistrate White waived aside his explanation with "It was probably the result of a slight concussion. Who knows what any of us would do under those circumstances?"

He was given time to pay his fine.

W.A.C. Bennett Has Been Premier For Ten Years

On August 1, Wednesday next, Hon. W. A. C. Bennett, MLA for South Okanagan, will have been premier of British Columbia for ten years. He has now held that office for a longer period than any other man, with one exception. That exception was Sir Richard McBride who was in office from June 1, 1903, until December 15, 1915—12 years, six months and 15 days. To equal that record Mr. Bennett must remain in office for another two years, six months and 15 days. There is every possibility he may do so because the present legislature need not be dissolved before that time.

Whether or not he does equal the McBride record, his tenure in office has been no mean accomplishment. Not very many Canadian politicians have remained in office for ten years, and ten consecutive years at that.

The anniversary recalls the story of the taking over of office; a story which somehow seems typical of the whole Bennett regime. The premier and his cabinet were sworn in on the night of August 1, 1952. The next morning they assembled at the Empress Hotel and, the premier in the lead, marched across to the legislative buildings, while the civil servants crowded the windows and wondered just what was going to happen to them. It was a flamboyant gesture, that cabinet march, and it was but the first of many such flamboyant gestures.

During the ten years in office, Mr. Bennett has never been free of controversy. Indeed, he has encouraged some of it. He is deliberately provocative in his statements and would rather be the centre of an acrimonious argument than ignored. Sometimes he speaks and acts too hastily to the embarrassment of his friends and the delight of his enemies.

He is more than the strongman of the government. While no man is indispensable, it would be a tricky business at this stage to more than speculate upon which, if any, of the present cabinet members would succeed him. The Bennett government is literally that—the Bennett government.

While he is marking his tenth anniversary as premier, he also holds, with one other, another record. He has been in the Legislature twenty-one years. He was originally elected as MLA for South Okanagan in 1941. Of all the members elected at that time only he and Arthur Turner, MLA Vancouver East, are still in the House. This in itself is no mean record, considering the very large turnover that has taken place.

Mr. Bennett has the capacity to win affection and inspire hatred. He has done both. There are those who believe he can do no wrong and there are those who believe he can do no right. However, strong those the feelings may be, there has never been a question as to his honesty, his integrity and his desire to better his province.

The ten years of the Bennett regime have been stormy ones. The headlines have been made a hundred times not only in this province, but across this country and beyond its border. Indeed, in this province scarcely a week goes by without some major "news break" centering on the government—and the premier.

Unbiased persons, we think, will admit that over the ten years Mr. Bennett has given this province pretty good government. One may not agree with everything he has done or how he has done it, but that does not alter the fact that the government under his leadership has done a pretty fair job. It has been a government not afraid to break with precedent; to hew a new path. A long list of accomplishments can testify to this. Highways, health, education, welfare, parks, to name but a few. The province has prospered under his regime as never before.

During the past year, certainly, there has been much controversy. Much of this has centered around not what the government did, but the way it did it. Perhaps we are too close to the present to assess it adequately, but certainly when historians write of the Bennett regime, they will agree it was not only colorful but exciting.

We are sure the people of Mr. Bennett's home constituency, South Okanagan, join us in extending greetings to him as he celebrates his tenth anniversary as premier of British Columbia.

Kiss Me, Sergeant!

Britain, long considered the traditional hub of our world's military system, has done it again.

Recruits, three of them at least, were enlisted in the army and their mothers were invited along to camp to see how the army treats their sons.

This in itself is a major breakthrough of military tradition which, we'll warrant, will give regimental sergeants-major many sleepless nights—until mother leaves to go home after seeing all is well.

The fact that the British army was moulded from raw recruits into one of the world's finest fighting forces during two world wars, is testimony that mollycoddling was not one of its faults.

Many stories, exaggerated of course in typical British music hall style, resulted in joking reference to an otherwise hard life. "Kiss Me Goodnight Sergeant-Major" was one instance of this during World War II.

Many soldiers, whose main occupation was the grime session, the canteen and the girls, not often in that order, were made angry enough to win medals in combat following subservience to the army's little, frequent and annoying "chicken" regulations, the expression in quotes being only half of it!

Joking aside though it is a well known fact that when the family knows "sonny" is all right—he is. It's a great morale builder.

And there is no indication the British army is deteriorating in any way. "Jolly good show, chaps!"

After a summer recess, members of the disarmament conference have reconvened to resume deadlocking.

There seems to be a limit to almost anything except the number of wrong ways a golf ball can be hit.

The Kansas City editor who says no one has come up with an international language must have forgotten the old gag that the universal language is the one spoken when money talks.

Many a person's character can't stand the acid test of his having nothing to do and plenty of money to do it with.

You had better be particularly careful when dealing with a man who talks a lot or a woman who has very little to say.

Nine More Coal Mines Die As Consumption Declines

OTTAWA (CP) — Nine coal mines closed in 1961 as coal consumption in Canada continued to decline, the Dominion Bureau of Statistics reported.

The report covered a period prior to the government's decision to stop subsidizing the Dominion Coal Company's No. 15 colliery at New Waterford, N.S., which is to close next month.

Just about every yardstick of activity in the coal industry fell lower last year.

Here's the picture: Over-all coal consumption—Down seven per cent to 21,630,000 tons from 23,250,000 in 1960, a record low since regular statistics were compiled. Domestic coal consumption—Down four per cent to 9,573,000 tons from 10,000,000 in 1960.

IMPORTS DOWN

Imported coal consumption—Down nine per cent to 12,057,000 tons from 13,277,000.

Domestic coal production—Down 5.6 per cent to 10,398,000 tons from 11,011,000.

Value of domestic coal output—Down 6.2 per cent to $70,053,000 from $74,676,000.

The only upturn was in exports of Canadian coal, which rose to 939,000 tons valued at $8,541,000 in 1961, compared with 853,000 tons valued at $6,789,000 a year earlier.

The number of coal mines in operation declined to 120 from 129, while the number of employees fell to 10,461 from 11,587. Salaries and wages dropped to $35,608,000 from $38,735,000.

The report on the coal industry also showed the picture by province.

The number of mines by province, with 1960 figures in brackets:

Nova Scotia 24 (25); New Brunswick 15 (14); Saskatchewan 4 (6); British Columbia 13 (15); Yukon 1 (1).

The average number of employees, with 1960 figures in brackets:

Nova Scotia 7,203 (7,864); New Brunswick 864 (853); Saskatchewan 214 (259); Alberta 1,318 (1,727); British Columbia 855 (878); Yukon 7 (6).

Salaries and wages, with 1960 figures in brackets:

Nova Scotia $23,150,604 ($25,306,551); New Brunswick $2,967,139 ($2,934,618); Saskatchewan $940,396 ($1,087,417); Alberta $5,113,050 ($6,333,426); British Columbia $3,396,772 ($3,042,465); Yukon $39,944 ($40,407).

Value of production, with 1960 figures in brackets:

Nova Scotia $41,716,107 ($44,981,257); New Brunswick $7,526,647 ($8,663,339); Saskatchewan $3,769,357 ($3,833,629); Alberta $10,472,978 ($11,516,842); British Columbia $6,453,373 ($5,584,017); Yukon $114,221 ($97,156).

Soft Soap, Hard Sell On 'Lane'

By ALAN WALKER

LONDON (CP) — Soft soap and hard sell share London's Petticoat Lane market.

"I wish I had a lorry-load of these genuine items" means "I have a suitcase full and want to get rid of them."

"Like to hold the monkey, sir?" means "put him on your shoulder beside the parrot while I photograph you and ask for seven shillings and six pence."

"I defy you to buy these any, where else in Petticoat Lane" means "no one else has the gall to offer them."

Tourists and buyers flock to the east London zoo of stalls Sunday mornings and run the gauntlet of now-shrieking, now-whispering tradesmen who badger or cajole them into buying everything from leper bells to jellied eels.

There is no Petticoat Lane. The name's history is obscure but it is believed the area specialized in garments centuries ago. Now the market Street and the environs in Stepney Borough. Early Sunday the stall-holders—licensed by the borough council at £15 12s a year—prepare to start haggling at 9 a.m. By 2 p.m. it is all over and many of the hoarse salesmen have made enough money to last out the week.

Jack the Ripper once walked Stepney streets and it used to be said you could have your watch stolen at one end of Petticoat Lane and have it offered to you for sale at the other end. Visitors now forfeit more money to cunning salesmen than to thieves.

Mid-way along Middlesex street the "Corn King" peddles ointment that he alleges cures corns, bunions, warts and ingrown toenails. As he hands you the tin he divides quietly: "Don't pick 'em, luv."

Most of the hawkers like to play on what they have found to be buyers' innate dishonesty. "Genuine Swiss watches, all stolen or smuggled," one offers with a sly grin.

MP Wants Detail On China Trade

By FARMER TIBBINGTON

(Ottawa Correspondent)

OTTAWA (Special)—A front-bench Liberal member of parliament has announced that his party will continue its fight to learn the details of the agreement on sales of Canadian wheat to Communist China.

George McIlraith, MP for Ottawa West, told the Ottawa bureau of Thomson Newspapers that he will re-introduce his motions which were defeated by the large Conservative majority in the last parliament. The motions deal with the tabling of all relevant documents concerning the Canada-China grain deal.

"We fully recognize there are some details of the agreement the Wheat Board does not normally give because it might harm its trading position in world markets," Mr. McIlraith said. "But the government has granted large sums of credit to the Chinese to purchase our wheat. Granting of credit is not a Wheat Board matter. It is government business about which the people of Canada should be informed."

Mr. McIlraith made it clear that neither he nor any member of the Liberal party is opposed to selling surplus Canadian wheat to China. But the Liberals are very much opposed to the government for failing to disclose the details of public transactions.

GOVERNMENT ANSWER

The government is expected to adopt the same line it took during the last session when it succeeded in having the details kept under wraps.

This line was summed up by the then acting agriculture minister Douglas Harkness who said: "Apart from the information with respect to volume and credit terms, it is contrary to government policy and not in the public interest to reveal details of the commercial sales contracts entered into by the Canadian Wheat Board."

The muzzle on information has extended to the point of refusing to reveal the date on which the long-term agreement was signed. There are some sharp political overtones to this refusal on what appears to be a relatively insignificant piece of information. The opposition has suggested that the deal was all wrapped up by the Wheat Board before agriculture minister Alvin Hamilton flew to Hong Kong last spring.

Completion of the agreement was not announced until Mr.

Hamilton returned to Ottawa from his Hong Kong trip. The Liberals have accused the government of taking undeserved credit for the grain sale. The government denies this and says that if a government has to take the blame for everything that goes wrong, it is only fair it should take credit for the more favorable developments. In any event, western farmers have given the Conservatives credit for selling their surplus wheat by remaining loyal to most of the government's prairie candidates on June 18.

Mr. McIlraith makes the point that payment by the Chinese in convertible sterling could have an adverse effect on Canada's disturbed balance of payments. He doesn't know if this is the case, because he can't get the necessary information.

"It has been my impression right along that the government has not analysed the effect on our taking payment in sterling. This effect could be serious on our balance of payments position," the Ottawa MP suggests.

He says the government used an order in council to establish a $100,000,000 fund as a guarantee the Chinese will meet their payments on time. He doubts the validity of this action and believes the pertinent act provides only for guarantees the Wheat Board will make payments to the farmers, and not that a foreign nation will honor its commitments to the Wheat Board.

WHAT IS KNOWN

This much is known about the deal. To date, the Chinese have met all their payments on schedule. They buy on the basis of 25 per cent cash when the ship is loaded and the balance in 225 days. The 75 per cent balance is handled by drafts on Canadian banks. All payments are in convertible sterling with a government guarantee to the Wheat Board in the event the Chinese default. The Chinese company handling their end of the bargain is called The China National Cereals, Oils and Foodstuffs Import and Export Corporation.

Parliamentary approval will be sought if the government finds it necessary to reimburse the Wheat Board for a default. The government also guarantees to six Canadian banks the repayment of advances and interest on money the board borrows to pay the farmers while awaiting the money from the Chinese.

Cabinet Changes Are A Massacre

By M. MCINTYRE HOOD

Special to The Daily Courier

LONDON—The political world in the United Kingdom is still reeling under the impact of the sweeping cabinet changes made by Prime Minister Macmillan. Seldom has there been so clean a sweep of senior members of the cabinet as that made by the prime minister. Hugh Gaitskell, Labor leader had the right term with which to describe the changeover when he called it a "political massacre." He said this could only be interpreted as a gigantic admission of failure, and that, instead of getting rid of his colleagues, Mr. Macmillan should resign and let the people elect a new government.

It is obvious that recent by-election results in which the government has fared very badly, have inspired Mr. Macmillan to indulge in a game of "general post" in getting rid of some of his top ministers and moving others into new posts. He realized that if the party image had to be changed for the better in the public mind, some of those responsible for its unpopularity would have to be sacrificed. That is exactly what has happened.

LLOYD'S REWARD

In the past year, Selwyn Lloyd, as chancellor of the exchequer, has had the most unenviable task of all the cabinet ministers. He had to take drastic, and unpleasant measures to restore the falling economy of the country. He undertook them boldly and courageously. The beneficial effects of his policies are only now beginning to be felt, but they were unpopular. What he was trying to do was never explained clearly to the public. But he stuck to his guns because he knew he was right. Now, instead of being rewarded for the service he courageously rendered to the country, he has been sacked and retired to the back benches.

To get rid of Selwyn Lloyd and put Reginald Maudling in his place as chancellor of the exchequer is, to my mind, a retrograde step. He has, in his past cabinet posts, done nothing sufficiently meritorious to warrant this promotion.

POLICY-MAKERS GONE

It is highly significant that the men who were primarily responsible for basic policies in the economic field, in defence, housing and education have all departed from the cabinet. They were not even offered alternative posts. This is being taken as an admission by the prime minister that he had put square pegs in round holes. Certainly, Harold Watkinson (defence), Sir David Eccles (education) and Dr. Charles Hill (housing and local government) had tremendous problems with which to deal, and it remains to be seen whether the new appointees who have taken their places will be any more successful in dealing with them. The newcomers have inherited some of the policies which have made the government unpopular throughout the nation, and they have major tasks ahead of them if they are expected to help restore the government to popular favour.

YOUNGER CABINET

By his new appointment, Mr. Macmillan has brought into senior posts and into the government a group of younger and more vigorous men than their predecessors. The clean sweep made of the old treasury team seems to indicate that there will be a new approach to the economic problems of the country.

What is necessary, however, is that the government must not only be changed in personnel and appearance. It must also be changed in performance. A change of performance in the right direction is needed, and quickly. If the process of recovery is to become associated in the public mind with the reorganization of Mr. Macmillan's government.

RUTHLESS MOVES

In some ways, Mr. Macmillan has been ruthless in getting rid of old political colleagues of many years' standing. He has had to be. It has become obvious that his old team had lost the support of the public. The fresh talent introduced and the rearrangement of positions, at first glance would seem to make for a stronger and more effective team. And that is exactly what Prime Minister Macmillan had to have if he hoped to win back the waning public support before the time comes for the next general election.

Mrs. Otto Gertz of Winfield has directed a successful Vacation Bible School in the Winfield Seventh-day Adventist Church, from 9-12 a.m. from July 16 to 26, with a closing program on the evening of the last day. The enrollment was about 40 boys and girls from Winfield, Oyma, and Okanagan. Center and Mrs. Gertz, Mrs. Del Reising, and Mrs. D. Quering helped provide punch for the children each morning. Mrs. W. Hessel was in charge of the kindergarten division. Mrs. Gertz of the primary and junior combined; Mrs. Reising of the crafts for the juniors and primary children. Mrs. W. Matheson from Kelowna assisted in the kindergarten and in the crafts. Mrs. Quering also worked in the kindergarten division along with Mrs. D. E. Williams of Winfield who also worked in crafts. Other ladies of the Winfield Adventist church helped provide punch for the children each day. Mrs. Gus Wageman also assisted in the kindergarten section. The crafts included woodworking for the boys; copper tooling, hot pads made from poplar sticks and pictures made from dyed rice for the girls. Pastor L. R. Krenler from Kelowna conducted the opening exercises which included the salutes and pledges to the Canadian Flag and the Christian Flag and the Bible. Miss Beverly Blake, visiting from California, led in the singing. Gaylene Krenler was at the piano for the singing and opening exercises. Mrs. Krenler assisted in the primary and junior sections.

Mood Of Italian Fashion Show Is Both Leisurely And Social

FLORENCE, Italy (AP)—There's a difference between American and Italian fashion shows—in mood, pace and models.

Another thing, men here like women to be women and the masculine influence has no place at all.

American buyer and press shows staged in showrooms or hotel ballrooms, can't compare with the old world splendor of Pitti Palace, where the Florence style show was held.

Here a pair of designers participates in an afternoon program that supposedly begins at 2:30. But nobody thinks of settling down in his chair at that time. For at least another half hour the audience mills around sipping beverages and chattering.

The first designer may show some 60 styles or, if so inclined, may send several hundred onto the T-shaped runway. Before the second designer begins there is another coffee and chatter intermission. After his show everyone returns home or goes to a cocktail party, returning to the palace for a second session beginning somewhere around 9 p.m.

Models are taller, appearing more so in spindly-heeled, needle-toed pumps. The uniform shoe for an American model is a blunt-toed pump with a two-inch wooden-stacked heel.

Mannequins in New York have begun to square off their shoulders, stock out their chests, tuck in their tummies. The models here, with few exceptions, are slouch-shaped with rounded shoulders, concave spines and a mincing walk.

The origin of the mushroom is lost in antiquity but for centuries it has been used in the cookery of Russia, France, Germany, Italy, China and Japan. Used in a cream soup it is always a favorite. Condensed Cream of Mushroom Soup is a rich, smooth combination of mushroom, milk and selected seasonings. If you are serving buffet—and it is fun when you have so many dishes to display—fill a tureen with the steaming aromatic soup and top with toasted croutons.

Golden brown chicken sauced with tomato, onion and green pepper, touched lightly with oregano, pepper and garlic is a favorite in the South American hemisphere. It is almost always served on rice, either rice cooked to a snowy fluff or boiled and turned to a golden shade by the addition of saffron or vegetable coloring.

COLOMBIAN CHICKEN
2 2-lb broilers, quartered
1 cup Tomato Ketchup
1/2 cup vinegar
1 cup chopped green peppers
1/2 cup chopped onion
1/2 cup water
1 tablespoon salt
1 teaspoon crushed dried oregano leaves
1 teaspoon pepper
1 teaspoon minced garlic

Place chicken in a large bowl or baking dish. Combine ketchup and remaining ingredients; spoon over chicken. Cover and marinate at least 3 hours, preferably overnight. Transfer chicken into Dutch oven or deep covered skillet. Cook, covered, over low heat, 1 hour or until chicken is tender, basting occasionally. Remove chicken to platter. Thicken sauce with mixture of flour and water. Pour over chicken. Makes 6-8 servings.

Use the best seasonal buys in greens for the salad bowl. Brighten your arrangement with tomato slices or tiny "plum" tomatoes, paper-thin cucumber, and perhaps some raw fresh mushrooms. If you are having a crowd, give them a choice of Italian, French, Polish or your own Thousand Island Dressing. Actually, you can offer this international assortment of dressings to your own family, because all store well in the refrigerator.

ITALIAN DRESSING
1/2 cup olive oil or salad oil
1/4 cup cider vinegar
1/2 teaspoon salt
1 clove garlic, split
Combine ingredients in jar; shake well. Store in refrigerator overnight. Shake well before using. Makes 3/4 cup.

FRENCH DRESSING
1/4 cup cider, white or malt vinegar
1/4 cup salad oil
1/4 teaspoon paprika
1/2 teaspoon sugar
1 teaspoon salt
Combine ingredients in flask or jar. Chill. Makes 1 cup.

POLISH DRESSING
1 cup dairy sour cream
1/2 cup dried dill pickles
3 tablespoons cider vinegar
1 teaspoon sugar
Combine ingredients; chill. Serve over tomato slices, cucumber slices and lettuce. Makes 1 cup.

Mr. Errol Knowles of Vancouver, president of the A.T.A. of British Columbia, Mr. Jack Bowering of Victoria, Minister of the Department of Commercial Transport and Mr. Bill Morris of Vancouver, executive secretary of the A.T.A. of B.C., spent Sunday in Kelowna as the guests of Mr. David Chapman on their way to attend the Provincial Government opening of the Rogers Pass.

Dr. and Mrs. E. S. Minness and their son Jimmy from Ottawa, and Dr. Minness's sister, Mrs. M. Davis of Kelowna, spent a few days in Kelowna last week at the Capri Motor Inn. During their visit Mrs. A. R. Fortin entertained informally at supper in their honour.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Buckingham of Vancouver, spent a few days at the Inn Tower last week. Mr. Buckingham has an acting part in Commonwealth film production now being filmed in B.C.

Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Murray from Portland Oregon with their two sons Larry and Bill spent the past week at the Inn Tower while visiting Mr. and Mrs. F. K. Parker of Westbank.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Bartosh and family of Edmonton have been visiting their uncle and aunt Mr. and Mrs. H. Duggan of Lakeview Heights.

Sons, Daughters, Grandchildren Meet With Parents At Reunion

A family reunion was held by Mr. and Mrs. Alex Macklin and Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Broadhead Saturday, when sons, daughters and grandchildren gathered for a picnic which was followed by a showing of slides taken by Dr. and Mrs. Neal Thomson, of Maracaibo, Venezuela. Mrs. Thomson is a niece.

Expected to arrive at time of going to press were Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Broadhead and three children from Dawson Creek; son-in-law and daughter Joyce, Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Pickett and three children from Arlington, Wash. Already in Westbank for the occasion were Mr. and Mrs. Charles Broadhead and three children from Winnipeg and Mr. and Mrs. (Doreen) Harold Hewlett, from Prince George.

Dr. and Mrs. Neal Thomson, here on furlough from Maracaibo, Venezuela, are guests at the home of the latter's parents Mr. and Mrs. Fred Broadhead.

Also here last week from far-off Venezuela were Mr. Donald Alves, who were visiting the former's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Ross Gorman, this being their first meeting in four years.

A chartered accountant with Price Waterhouse Co. in Maracaibo, Mr. Alves, with his wife and five children spent almost a week here before leaving for Arlington and Seattle, Wash., as well as Vancouver. Later, they will proceed to New York before flying back to Venezuela where they still were in residence during the riots, which recently occurred, of which they saw a great deal.

Recent visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Schneider have been the former's nephew, Pilot Officer Bob Huch, on leave from the RCAF from Trenton, with his wife and their three boys.

Also a guest during last week was Gerry Blackie, of Okanagan Mission, who enjoyed a stay with his uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Schneider and their family.

Visiting their father, J. Basham, and brothers J. N. and David Basham are Philip and Bob Basham with their respective families. Philip's home is in Victoria and Bob and his family live at North Vancouver. All are camping at Shady Rest.

Miss E. Sumpter had as recent guests her brother and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Lovell. Accompanying them were their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. James Kinross and two-year-old Colin, who all enjoyed the Okanagan sunshine before returning to their homes in the Fraser Valley.

Mr. and Mrs. Stan Bishop and two children, were visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Hewlett last week. From Langley, they left to return home Thursday, as did

ANN LANDERS

Give Him New Chance

Dear Ann Landers: Usually I applaud your answers, but recently you let me down with a thud. Your reply to the woman who complained about a frigid husband indicated that you know nothing of the problem.

The woman said she had a warm and affectionate nature. Her husband was an icicle. You asked, somewhat unsympathetically, "How come you haven't warmed him up after all these years?"

Let me tell you, Ann Landers, you just don't warm up an icicle. I know because I tried for several years. I was coy and teasing. I threw myself at him and played hard-to-get. I put on candlelight slippers and served everything from champagne to beer. I wore lacy nightgowns and switched to a chiffon negligee. I even installed stereo and played everything from tango and twist music to Beethoven and Chopin.

No, you can't warm up an icicle. You can do other things, however. You can lose your mind, take a lover, or become dried up and bitter.

Don't tell me to see a doctor because I am — AN M.D.'S WIFE

Dear Wife: Your husband should see a colleague.

Dear Ann Landers: I am a 10-year-old girl and I need help already. I have never had a haircut in my whole life. My hair is down to my waist and it is a lot of trouble especially in the summer time.

I want to get my hair cut but my mother won't let me. She says my long hair is my best feature and I need it. I asked my dad to help me but he says it is up to my mother.

When I go swimming my hair is always in the way. I am so jealous of my girl friends who have short hair that I could just die. I even offered to pay for the haircut out of my allowance, but my mother says money has nothing to do with it. I have to wait until I am 12 years old because that's when my sister got her first haircut.

Please help me. Maybe from a group up person it will sound different. Thank you. — HAIR HATER

Dear Hair Hater: This is only my opinion, but I think it's unfair of your mother to force you to have long hair if you hate it. It's more important for a 10-year-old to be comfortable than to have a "best" feature.

Dear Ann Landers: The woman who signed herself "Lonesome Lady" is a great deal luckier than I was. Her erstwhile admirer was a honest enough to tell her in advance that his daughters would always come first. I married the man and THEN found out I was playing third fiddle.

Before marriage I was completely open about my financial holdings. He felt that since I had money from my first husband's estate I should pay half of all living expenses, taxes, utilities, food, clothing, club memberships, etc. I agreed.

Then one day I learned that he had quietly bought fur jackets, automobiles and other luxuries for his married daughters. I blew my top. In a bitter argument he told me he owed his daughters more than he owed me. After that remarkable pronouncement I suggested he go live with them.

The pay-off: We separated and neither one of his daughters would have him. So now he's phoning me every evening and I am — NOT AT HOME

Dear Not At Home: You married for companionship and it still may be possible to achieve that end. Give him another chance. He should be especially appreciative after his double belt in the chops.

HURLBURT CAMP INSTRUCTION

Girls from eight to 10 receive instruction at the United Church of Canada's summer camp Hurlburt near Vernon. The girls, who alternate with boys weekly during the summer, come from points between Revelstoke and Osoyoos. They learn swimming, water games, handicrafts and responsibilities of communal living.

Monday Opening Spreads To 95 Per Cent Of Stores

VERNON (Staff) — Monday opening of more than 95 per cent of Vernon's retail stores has met with an enthusiastic reception here by motel-hotel operators, residents and tourists.

Large retail stores including Hudson Bay Company, Bennett's, Woolworths, Stedmans will join other stores which have opened Monday since June to service the public.

Typical reactions came from two Alberta tourists, currently resident in a local motel.

Leonard E. Tyrone and his wife Dorothy, of Calgary, said they had heard Vernon was a "closed up town" Monday and were told by friends to travel south on that day.

But when they learned that all major retail outlets in Vernon are now open six days a week until the end of August, they plan on staying here until Wednesday.

A local reaction came from Glen Thompson of Oyma who said: "The six-day shopping week may be fine for the public but how about the store clerk who must work six days a week?"

A check of city merchants open six days a week show that no employee works more than the approved five-day week, with the possible exception of the store manager-owner. All employees receive Sunday and one other day off each week.

HARD UNDERCOVER WORK BUT — NO UNMENTIONABLE CLUES

VERNON (Staff) — Police here did some serious undercover work last week but it only came to light on the weekend.

Wednesday night, 15 pairs of ladies' underpants were stolen from the clothes lines behind the nurses residence at Jubilee Hospital. Nurses reported the theft of the unmentionables to police and RCMP, in the course of their investigation, stopped several motorists in the area early Thursday morning for questioning.

One nurse, who did not wish to be identified, said she personally suffered loss of three pairs. RCMP are still investigating.

Vacationing Enjoyed

VERNON (Staff) — Mr. and Mrs. Mike Koyipka, of Williams Lake were recent visitors to Vernon. Mr. and Mrs. Koyipka were formerly Vernon residents and they enjoyed their stay renewing acquaintances with relatives and friends.

Visiting at the home of Major and Mrs. M. V. McGuire, is their daughter, Mrs. Eric Jones and her three children from Calgary. Mrs. Jones plans to spend three weeks stay holidaying in the Vernon area.

Ald. Eric Palmer, accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Willis will spend about a week's vacation boating up along the coast of Vancouver Island, coveur Island.

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — A Canadian who dresses like a cowboy has made a living, police say, by deliberately falling down in some of the best stores in the country, then collecting insurance.

Sometimes in his enthusiasm, he actually hurt himself. John B. Crowley, 35, of Peterborough, Ont., told police Friday.

They said Crowley got his fund-raising idea when he received $75 from an insurance company after a minor fall in a Rolla, Mo. store nearly a year ago. Since then, he has collected about $3,000 they said.

Crowley was charged with false pretences and making fraudulent claims on insurance companies.

Motorists Get On Marks For Roger Pass Opening

VERNON (Staff) — Motorists, intent to be among the first over the Rogers Pass portion of the Trans-Canada Highway, began lining up a few miles east of Revelstoke late last night.

Hundreds of cars are reported on the side of the highway near the spot Premier Bennett and Alberta Minister of Highways and Telephones, Gordon E. Taylor will snip the ribbon for the provincial opening which will trim the distance between Golden and Revelstoke to 92 miles from 192.

Department of Highways authorities also reported hundreds of motorists and passengers waiting on the east side of the Rogers Pass this morning.

Cavalcades from Calgary, Edmonton and other Alberta points are expected to join those from Vancouver, the Fraser Valley and Okanagan points.

Two chartered buses arrived in Vernon last night carrying officials of the B. C. Highways and Toll Authority, four hostesses from the B.C. Government owned Ferries, and members of the Victoria and Vancouver Chambers of Commerce. They left here early today for Revelstoke and the opening.

BOTH OFFICIAL. In addition to Mr. Taylor and Premier Bennett, B.C. Highways Minister P. A. Gagliardi and North Okanagan MLA and Speaker of the House Hugh Shantz will represent the government.

The federal opening of the highway will not take place until Sept. 4 when Prime Minister Diefenbaker will cut a ribbon 40 miles farther east in the heart of the mile-long pass. This too being billed as the "official" opening and may well turn out to be.

Bus Fare Rate On Atlantic Trip

SOUTHAMPTON, England (AP) — The British liner Canberra has sailed for New York with a record number of passengers on a low-fare voyage that made crossing the Atlantic cheaper a mile than riding a London bus.

The 45,000-ton vessel of the Peninsular and Oriental Line carried 1,700 passengers and a crew of 822. P and O said this was the largest number of tourists ever taken across the Atlantic in one ship.

The Canberra is due in New York Thursday for a 76-hour stay and will return here Aug. 11. She will start another crossing the next day with another 1,700 passengers.

A line spokesman said these two cruises offer the cheapest opportunity yet for Britons to visit the United States.

Minimum tourist class fare is $72 ($217) for the 6,325-mile round trip. This works out at about three cents a mile or less than it costs to cross London by a double-decker.

BING CONLEY DIES

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — William (Bing) Conley, 63, onetime New England middleweight boxing champion and for the last 25 years an actor and stand-in in films, died Tuesday of an apparent heart attack. Attendees at Cedars of Lebanon Hospital said he collapsed and died shortly after walking into the hospital. They quoted him as saying he had been refused treatment at another hospital.

STRIKE THREAT

A proposed B.C. carpenters also threatened to dampen opening ceremonies today. Carpenters are employed on finishing work of the avalanche shed, however, picketing of the carpenter projects did not materialize over the weekend.

The new route will reduce the highway distance between Calgary and Vancouver to 710 miles compared with almost 800 by southern roads. It will give the prairie tourist easy access to the Okanagan from the north instead of south from the United States or southeast through Trail and Grand Forks. The route has been under construction since 1953.

ARMSTRONG NOTES

ARMSTRONG (Correspondent) — Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Heney left on Friday for Agassiz, to visit for a few days with relatives.

Mrs. Ralph Flanders and daughter, last week from Vancouver where they had spent a short visit.

Mrs. Russell Colter returned from a vacation at the coast where she has been holidaying for the past three weeks.

Ricky and Scott Merriman of Vernon are spending a couple of weeks of their holidays with their grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Marshall.

Mrs. John Goertzen and her daughter returned home last week after having spent the past two months in Vancouver.

TUNNEL LINKED

VANCOUVER (CP) — Workers Thursday drove steel through the final 13 feet separating the two ends of Vancouver's new Highbury sewage tunnel. When in operation the 2½-mile-long tunnel will eliminate the need for dumping raw sewage in the harbor.

Water Skier Hurt At Vernon

VERNON (Staff) — Raymond Hamilton, 21, of Vernon was injured at Kalamalka Lake Sunday while water skiing.

Mr. Hamilton was taken to Vernon Jubilee Hospital by the Vernon Ambulance. It was reported this morning that his condition is satisfactory. Extent of his injuries has not been released by the hospital.

Bennett Says Thanks For 10 Years Of Effort

Premier W. A. C. Bennett has stated that on August 2 the Social Credit Government of British Columbia will have completed its first ten years in office and he wishes to publicly thank all citizens who strongly supported his government during the great ten year period.

The premier also said he was very happy to state that due to his great support the Social Credit administration has been able to build through this period more hospitals and schools than in the previous 90 years of the province's history.

In the rebuilding and extension of the Pacific Great Eastern Railway we have accomplished the largest single railroad extension of anywhere on the continent during the last 20 years. Provincial highway program roads, bridges and ferries are admired everywhere.

The Premier went on to point out that this great development has not only taken place in this particular field but includes the universities, the health services and the great expansion in hospital insurance. Also, the great park and tourist development. The Premier also stated with pride that all this unparalleled development was secured on a pay-as-you-go policy with complete abolition of the direct debt of the province.

Critics are prevalent today as they have been over the entire ten years of the Social Credit Government.

FEWER PARCELS HONG KONG (AP) — Food parcels from Hong Kong residents to relatives in Communist China totalled 3,000,000 in the second quarter of 1962, a decrease of 673,000 from the same period last year. Officials believe the drop resulted from Chinese import restrictions.

Willows Eliminate Rovers

Willow Inn Willows virtually eliminated Rutland Rovers from Men's Senior B Softball League play for this year Sunday.

Wally Behn scattered six hits as teammates downed the Rutland crew by a 7-5 count at King's Stadium. E. Portney was the losing pitcher.

Rovers moved out ahead by a 5-0 count, mainly on errors but failed to hold the lead as the Willows came back strongly and showed their strength along the bench to win the encounter.

R. Marliott was the big hitter for the winners coming up with two hits in three at bats while B. Runner collected two for five for the losers.

Willows, league winners, got seven runs on five hits and four errors while the Rutland squad picked up their five runs on six hits and four errors.

Okies Take Double Bill By Default

The Kamloops Okonots won two Okanagan-Mainline baseball contests at the weekend but didn't play either one.

The Okonots were given the two wins when the Penitents Red Sox failed to keep a date for a double bill in Kamloops.

In other action Vernon kept their pennant hopes alive with a 10-2 victory over the Okonots Sunday at Vernon and Oliver John Kashuba scattered five shutout Trail 17-0.

Vernon while Don MacGillivray, hits in going the distance for a junior who recently signed a contract with the New York Yankees suffered the loss.

Elroy Jacobs was the winner in Oliver while the Smokies' Jack Ferguson was charged with the loss.

20,166 See Argos Edge Lions 18-13

VANCOUVER (CP) — Toronto Argonauts' offensive scoring punch was limited to the boot by British Columbia Lions in pre-season play, but Canadian Football League opponents can bet there'll be more zing when the Argos start playing for keeps.

Argonauts got 12 points by kicking Saturday night and their other six points came on a defensive-team touchdown as they beat the Lions 18-13 in an exhibition game here. But their No. 1 quarterback sat on the bench most of the night.

In addition, their ace full-back Cookie Gilchrist sat the game out at home under suspension for breaking curfew earlier in Edmonton.

Coach Lou Agnew used all four of his quarterbacks giving veteran Tobin Rote only the first quarter to show his class to the 20,166 fans who sat in 70-degree weather in Empire Stadium.

FIRST ROUND LEADER

George Knudson of Toronto recovers his ball after making a shot that helped him take the lead in the opening round of the Canadian Open at Montreal's suburban Laval-sur-le-lac course. Knudson finished the round, interrupted several times by rain, with a five-under-par 67, two strokes ahead of his nearest competitor. (CP Wirephoto).

Ted Kroll Fires 4 Under Par To Take Can. Open

MONTREAL (CP) — Ted Kroll, a balding veteran of the golfing world, was egged on by an enthusiastic, teen-aged caddy, caught fire for a four-under-par final nine holes a two-stroke victory in the $30,000 Canadian Open golf championship Sunday.

Kroll, a much-wounded war veteran who has suffered from back miseries for several weeks, came in with a four-round total of 278, 10 under par and two strokes better than Charlie Sifford, a Negro pro from Los Angeles who led Kroll by three strokes with only nine holes to go.

Sifford, however, ran into late putting trouble while Kroll, told by his caddy to take it easy, started banging in birdies. It was Kroll's first major title since 1956, although he has not been playing the tournament circuit regularly since then. Kroll's caddy was Russ Witt, 17, of suburban St. Lambert, who modestly disappeared after Kroll putted out on the final green. Witt is a native of Mordean, Minn.

Sifford and Kroll started the front nine of the final round tied with a 208 total.

On the 510-yard 10th, Kroll fired a birdie. He got another birdie putt on the 12th and three holes later took a lead he never lost.

"On the 15th," Kroll said, "I hit a drive and a four iron and then my caddy told me Charlie had bogeyed the hole. So I thought I could sneak one in."

He got that birdie and added another on the 18th, sinking a 10-footer.

Kroll's win was worth $4,300, while Sifford picked up $3,000 for his second-place finish.

The low Canadian in the starting field of 156 pros and amateurs was Wilf Homenuik of Winnipeg, who electrified the crowd of about 8,000 spectators with a one-in-one on the 208-yard 17th hole.

Homenuik, a 135-lb. pounder, teed off with a three-wood and landed his shot about 10 feet from the pin. The ball bounced twice and rolled in.

The age was the 14th turned in on the PGA circuit this season. Homenuik's four-round total was 285, good for $1,250 in prize money.

In third place in the over-all standings was veteran Art Wall Jr. of Pocono Manor, Pa., who started the day seven strokes off the leading pace. He chopped

NL-AL ROUNDUP

LA Opens League Lead, Drysdale Wins 19th

Are Los Angeles Dodgers primed to break away from an old National League tradition—the down-to-the-wire pennant chase?

Fired by the hitting of Frank Howard and superlative pitching of righthander Don Drysdale, the Dodgers completed a three-game sweep over San Francisco Giants Sunday, crushing their closest pursuers 11-1.

The romp increased the Dodgers' league lead to four games, the biggest edge the Dodgers have had in a pennant derby since their runaway year of 1955.

Howard knocked in five runs with a homer and three singles and Drysdale breezed to his 19th victory of the season with a six-hitter.

Frank Robinson's key hitting led Cincinnati Reds to a doubleheader sweep over Milwaukee Braves 8-6 and 2-1 that carried the Reds into third place.

Claude Raymond (3-2) of St. Louis, Que., was the victim of the second-game defeat.

Philadelphia Phillies defeated Pittsburgh Pirates 4-1 in a 10-inning thriller, their eighth win in nine games with an 8-1 victory. St. Louis Cardinals clipped New York Mets 6-3 and 5-1, with Ray Daulton (1-3) of Montreal the first-game loser.

Chicago Cubs split a twin bill with Houston Colts. The Cubs won the first game 4-2 and lost the second 3-1.

The Dodgers beat the Giants 8-6 Saturday, while Cincinnati defeated Milwaukee 9-3 and Philadelphia belted Pittsburgh 9-2. The Mets edged the Cards 9-8 as Ken Mackenzie of Gore Bay, Ont., worked five innings of relief for the victory. Maury Kucina (1-3) singled home a run in the ninth inning that made the difference.

The Dodgers, who have won 14 of 18 games since regaining the league lead three weeks ago, got off winging in Sunday's romp that gave them an 8-3 season mark against the Giants. They sent 11 men to the plate in the first inning, rapping out seven hits, scoring six runs and knocking out southpaw Billy O'Dell.

Howard delivered the first two runs with a single, singled in another in the second inning, banged his 20th homer of the season in the seventh and had another RBI single in the eighth.

The six-foot-seven, 250-pound outfielder drove in 12 runs in the three-game set against the Giants, getting a homer in each game. Howard has homered eight times in his last 11 games, has batted in 52 runs in his last 37 games and boasts a .321 average.

It is a good idea to get out of the way of Sunday drivers. The same goes for Sunday hitters in baseball.

Charlie Maxwell of Chicago White Sox is a prize example of the latter and New York Yankee pitchers forgot to get out of his way Sunday.

Maxwell hammered three home runs in a doubleheader, two in a row, as the White Sox ended a five-game Yankee winning streak in the second game for a split with the American League leaders. The Yankees won the first game, despite a three-run Maxwell homer, 7-4, and the White Sox took the second 6-2.

Two other doubleheaders were also divided as contending teams for the league pennant finished the day where they started.

The second-place Los Angeles

HALF GAME OUT OF SECOND

Labatts Close On Top Spot In Downing Smokies 7-4

For a few hours at the weekend the Kelowna Labatts moved into a second place tie with the Vernon Luckies in the Okanagan Mainline Baseball League.

They came up with their tenth win in their last 11 starts Saturday night as they raced to overtake the league leading Merritt Metros and second place Luckies.

The Luckies, however, kept their pennant hopes alive Sunday with a 10-2 win over Kamloops and thereby moved one-half game ahead of the streaking Labatts who are the class of the league right now.

The first three teams in the league are now separated by a meagre one and a half points so it's anyone's pennant at the moment.

In Saturday night's game righthander Mike Carnahan pitched a neat three-hitter as the locals downed the visiting Trail Smoke Eaters by a 7-4 count. Al Guimont, who gave up 13 hits, was the loser.

Trail jumped into a 1-0 lead in the first inning on a walk (the only one given up by Carnahan), an error, a single to centre field by Tony Duroso, and a passed ball.

The locals came back in the second inning with one run when Lee Day walked. Jerry Robertson grounded to the second baseman but beat out the throw when Day was tagged out and second. Robertson then stole second base and scored on a Wickenheiser Texas Leaguer to left.

They added to their total with two more runs in the fourth to move out in front by a 3-1 count. Nick Bulach lined a single to centre to lead off, Jack Burton, the next man up, then slashed one to left and moved Bulach over to third. A bunt out to the mound by Jerry Goyer scored Bulach.

Wayne Leonard then smashed a line single to centre but Burton was tagged out at third when he was a little slow getting back to the bag after rounding the corner. Trail's diminutive third baseman Wayne Kew was really alert on the play.

Lee Day scored Wayne Leonard with his first hit of the night, a single to centre which dropped in front of the charging centrefielder.

The Smokies were far from finished at this point though. They picked up three more in the top of the fourth on one hit and four errors to the locals after it looked as if they were going down in order.

Carnahan got the first two men on a strikeout and a bounder to second, had a one and two count on the centre-fielder, Keith Healey when he got himself into trouble. Healey swung on the next pitch and pop it up. Big Mike moved over from the mound to make the routine catch for the third out.

Then a groan arose from the crowd—he dropped the ball and Healey was safe at first. To make matters worse the big righthander was charged with an error on the next play too when he was a little slow getting over to a short blooper towards the mound by Trail shortstop Morey Johnson.

Rocky Cull then smashed a line single to high to score Healey. Two more runs came home on an error to first baseman Jerry Robertson and the Smokies were out in front 4-3.

The Labatts came roaring back in the bottom of the fifth with four runs to move into the lead to stay however.

Jack Burton led off with a bounce single to third and then moved over to second. Jerry Goyer singled moving Burton to third. He then came home on a wild pitch by Guimont and Goyer moved over to second.

That tied the game at 3-3.

The stage was set for Lee Day, big centrefielder, but he went down swinging. Frank Fritz followed with a single over the pitcher's head into shallow centre and moved to third on a passed ball. Jerry Robertson walked, Rich Wickenheiser cracked a single into left field scoring Fritz and moving Robertson around into scoring position. He then scored on another wild pitch by Guimont, who was having his troubles on the mound, with Carnahan at bat.

The big fellow hit a long fly into deep centre on the next pitch and it looked like it was going for extra bases but Keith Healey made a beautiful running catch for the Smokies to retire the side.

Trail came up with a mild rally in the top of the eighth but failed to score.

Carnahan, making his first home start for the Labatts in league action, (he blanked the visiting Mount Vernon, Wash., team 9-0 here in an exhibition game two weeks ago), collected nine strikeouts on the way to the win. He retired the side in the second, third, fourth, sixth, seventh and ninth innings without too much trouble.

In the first round the Kelowna team blanked the Salmon Arm team 8-0 while Kamloops shut-out Langley All Stars by a 6-0 count.

The final game was a tight affair which featured strong pitching by the Kamloops crew. Kelowna got most of their runs by virtue of walks, passed balls and stolen bases.

Reliever Richard Beliveau was the winning pitcher. He took over the mound chores from starter John Strong in the fifth inning.

Death And Sickness Hit Jinx Ship Carl Fritzen

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP) — Stories of a jinxed ship flew along the waterfront today following the departure of the West German freighter Carl Fritzen.

The master of the ship, ill and despondent, hanged himself in his cabin at San Pedro, Calif., 10 days ago.

The steward found him. Two days later the steward suffered a heart attack and had to be relieved.

The boatswain suffered a heart attack.

The chief mate had to be relieved of his duties. No reason was given.

The boatswain suffered a heart attack.

A new master and chief engineer were flown from West Germany, and the steamship sailed for Portland, the second officer had to be relieved of his duties. As was the case of the chief mate, there was no explanation.

By that time a new chief mate had arrived from West Germany. He joined the ship at Astoria and made the journey 100 miles up stream to Portland.

But Portland turned out to be the wrong port. The mistake was not explained, but the ship was told to turn around and sail for Seattle, where the ship's 11,000-ton load of grain was waiting.

So the Carl Fritzen headed back out of Portland last night.

SHIPPED IN PARTS
HAY RIVER, N.W.T. (CP) — The survey vessel commissioned at this Great Slave Lake south shore port was named the Hugh A. Young in a ceremony here. Built in Vancouver, it was dismantled for shipment north.

The new officers professed to be undisturbed by it all. They did not discuss a jinx. "So I'm here now; that's the way with a sailor," said the new chief mate, Gustaf P. W. Schmidt. "He's got to go when he's needed."

The 81-year-old chief says he has more than 160,000 North American Indian followers in Western Canada. These are divided into 20 nations and the office of the grand chief of the council, according to Wapanatak's letterhead, is in Brentwood Bay, Saanich, Vancouver Island.

The totem state not only has a constitution, national anthem and flag, but $25,000,000 in assets, Wapanatak says.

"The whole thing sounds a bit heavy to me," a Canadian embassy official responded when asked about Wapanatak and the totem state. He said he had never run across the name "totem state."

drop on the first or second lead of the suit. He then played the ten of spades.

West grabbed the king, and under the impression that his partner had the club suit stopped, returned a low spade to establish the suit. The grateful declarer discarded his queen of clubs on the queen of spades and ran the clubs to make three notrump.

Of course, South was lucky to have found the clubs divided 2-2 so that the chances of carrying off the bluff were increased, and he was equally fortunate to have encountered a gullible West.

If West had paid more attention to the cards his partner played, instead of what declarer was busy doing, he might have escaped his role as victim of South's machinations. East had played the 7-4 of clubs, in that order, as the A-K were cashed. This is the stock way of indicating a doubleton in dummy's long suit.

By interpreting East's plays correctly, West would have known what South was up to and would not doubt have found the answer to the situation. A heart return, after winning the king of spades, would have fixed South's wagon for good and left declarer hanging high and dry. South would have gone down a minimum of two tricks.

The result of the hands points up once again the importance of conventional signals to help the defending side overcome the natural disadvantages of defense.

Declarer next cashed the A-K of clubs, trying to act like a man who hoped the queen would

Tremulous U.S. Dollar Receives A Pat On Back

NEW YORK (AP) — The rumor-buffed U.S. dollar got a reassuring pat on the back last week.

President Kennedy, speaking at a press conference televised live to Europe via Telstar satellite, pledged that the dollar will not be devaluated. "Those who speculate against the dollar are going to lose," he said.

Speculators who had set on rumors that the dollar would be devaluated rushed to sell their gold mining shares. Prices of shares tumbled on New York, London and Johannesburg exchanges. The price of actual gold declined on the London bullion market.

The dollar was in the news on another front. Americans learned that in June it wouldn't go as far in covering the cost of living as it did in May.

Mainly because of higher food prices, the consumers price index advanced one-tenth of one per cent to a record 105.3 per cent of the 1957-59 base period.

The index has increased eight-tenths of one per cent this year, rising to records in four of the six months.

The possibility of an income tax cut remained up in the air with Kennedy saying he wanted to see the July economic statistics before making a decision.

Doctors Facing Threat As Outcome Of Strike

BIGGAR, Sask. (CP)—About 20 persons a day call at a trim, pink and white bungalow here on a quiet residential street.

They are seeking treatment under Saskatchewan's Medical Care Insurance Act.

The building houses a non-profit, co-operative clinic, one of five set up in the province since July 1.

The clinics are an outgrowth of the now-settled Saskatchewan medical care dispute and their expansion is giving many doctors something new to worry about.

All operate directly under the act and make no charge for medical treatment. Doctors in the clinics are reimbursed by the government.

CLOSED THEIR DOORS

Most private practitioners closed their doors with the implementation of the act July 1. The clinics are linked in a co-operative provincial organization which is busily co-ordinating "grass-roots" reaction to the Saskatchewan doctors' boycott of medical care plan.

On the one side, citizens supporting the doctors' stand rallied around Keep Our Doctors Committees which organized efforts to set up more. Organizers said clinics arose in a protest rallies and demonstrations.

Others in favor of the compulsory plan began holding meetings of their own. Crowds of 500 were common and they wanted clinics.

By the time the boycott ended last Monday with a doctors-government agreement, the co-operatives were firmly entrenched.

Clarence Lyons, a Saskatoon union official and first head of the provincial association, said four full-time organizers are now on the road helping citizens' groups set up clinics.

At least a dozen communities have organizations set up to start clinics, he said, in addition to the five that already have them.

HELPS START CLINIC

Mr. Lyons helped set up the Community Health Services Clinic in Saskatoon. Others are going at Prince Albert, Weyburn and Regina in addition to Biggar.

Doctors generally are watching the movement grow with suspicion and distrust. After their bitter fight with the government, they now find themselves faced with a new enemy, although none will say it officially.

One prominent doctor in Saskatoon said "if the co-operative clinics keep on growing, we'll have another war on our hands."

Heavy S. African Smokers Relatively Free Of Cancer

MOSCOW (AP) — The incidence of lung cancer is relatively low among the "world's heaviest smokers"—the white South Africans—a doctor from that country reported today.

But he made clear he considers cigarette smoking a factor, though not the sole one in the sharp increase in lung cancer in various parts of the world in the last 40 years.

Dr. Geoffrey Dean, senior physician at the Eastern Cape Provincial Hospital, Port Elizabeth, addressing the closing sessions of the eighth international cancer congress, declared:

"In South Africa I observed that the incidence of lung cancer was low although cigarettes were cheap and most men were heavy smokers. In fact, the statistics of cigarette consumption showed that the white South African had long been the heaviest cigarette smoker in the world."

Analysis of the South African lung cancer deaths from 1947 to 1956 showed the incidence of lung cancer was less than half of that in Britain. It was higher in cities than in rural areas and particularly high in one city, Durban, which has a serious air pollution problem.

BLAMES OTHER FACTORS
Dr. Dean added: "The (South African) evidence strongly suggests that there is some other factor besides cigarette smoke responsible for the very high rates for lung cancer and chronic bronchitis in Great Britain, and it seems reasonable to assume that this other factor is atmospheric air pollution."

But some of Dean's own coun-

GOOFBALL SMUGGLING ROUTE TO JAIL 'WILL SOON BE SHUT'

VANCOUVER (CP) — Police said Sunday they have known for nearly two weeks that barbiturates were being smuggled to addicts in the Vancouver jail.

Officers said a note describing the smuggling technique was intercepted in the jail.

The statement followed a Vancouver Sun report that "goofballs" were being hauled through a jail window on a rope under the noses of police and in full view of passersby on Main street, a downtown thoroughfare.

Maintenance officials said the smuggling will soon be stopped without police action because new screens are going to be installed on jail windows.

UK Hopeful On ECM Talks

LONDON (AP) — British objects to Europe.

The argument centres on price policy.

By setting high prices the market could stimulate production at home and become virtually self-sufficient. Commonwealth farm products thus would be effectively excluded.

The six have offered what they call a reasonable price policy. The British have turned it down because they feel it is too vague with regard to Commonwealth sales.

Top British negotiator Edward Heath flew home for consultations with Prime Minister Macmillan. The talks resume in Brussels Wednesday.

Thalidomide Babies Total 40 In Canada

Canada's toll of thalidomide-deformed babies rose to more than 40 during the weekend as federal authorities disclaimed any financial responsibility to the stricken families.

The latest case was reported Saturday in Hamilton where a woman said she had seven-month-old twin boys with malformed arms and legs.

Federal Health Minister Mon-teith, said at his home in Stratford, Ont., his department sympathizes with the parents but confirmed earlier Ottawa statements that no financial help will be given.

Meanwhile, authorities in the United States said alarm over the deformities has prompted them to revamp methods of controlling new drugs. Thalidomide was kept off the U.S. market by Vancouver-born Dr. Frances Oldham Kelsey of the federal drug administration.

DENY THEM LIFE?

At Victoria, Dr. Brock Chisholm said a special federal commission should decide whether babies deformed by the drug should be allowed to live.
